

Bar Stool Race Rules

THE #1 Rule – WE are here to have fun!

1. Crossing the push line before the flag drops will result in disqualification.
2. The pusher crossing the start line will result in disqualification.
3. Crossing into the other lane during the race will result in disqualification.
4. If both racers crash, racers can get back on the barstools. Racers must be sitting on the barstools. At this point, it is allowable to put your feet down to propel the barstool across the finish line, but the racer must be sitting on the seat or they will be disqualified.
5. If riders choose to not wear a helmet while competing in the barstool races then they assume and accept all the dangers that occur in the activity of racing and riding on a bar stool downhill.
6. The finish line judges will have final say in determining a winner of each race.
7. If the finish line judges cannot determine a winner, we will re-run the race
8. Racers must make sure they understand the results of the race before they leave the bottom of the track. Race results cannot be altered once the next race is run.
9. The winner of each heat will advance to the next round.
10. Spectators and/or racers are not allowed in the announcer's booth.
11. Side bets are allowed and encouraged during each of the heats.
